

In Manila, with communities living rough under a bridge or in a cemetery, ATD runs Street Libraries. Volunteers build relationships, take cultural action, plan festivals of learning!

Support the All Together in Dignity Women Dream Team who will be running along with nearly 40,000 other women in the biggest all-women's charity event in the world.

We need you to play a role and raise some much needed funds for ATD.

For every €10 collected, €3 will fund our work in Ireland and €7 will be sent to the ATD team in the Philippines.

In July 2012, the ATD in the Philippines launched its literacy programme Ang Galing ("It's great") in impoverished communities where it has been running Street Libraries previously. Ang Galing is a programme that supports children aged 6-14 to read and write. It builds up the self confidence of the children through having one to one teaching sessions.
